

ABOUT ARIC

Aric Bostick was a former high-school teacher and coach. When he was a teacher he created an after-school club called the Goal Setters Club. Ultimately, the club and Aric were featured on television for the success it had with his students, along with the summer leadership camp that he also created.

Over the past two decades, Aric has had the privilege of working with hundreds of school districts nationwide. He has spoken to over half a million educators, students and parents from coast to coast.

His motivation has been to help students achieve in school and life, and help teachers and parents get FIRED UP to help their students and children to believe in themselves, no matter what their circumstances.

Aric believes that when we can change ourselves for the better, then we can help others do the same.
